

Important angles

There are certain angles that we use a lot in trigonometry. They are shown below. Most are given in degrees with which you are probably most familiar. The angles in quadrant 1 are also given in radians, an alternative measure we will discuss later.

